Under Ford tariff

Gas prices to increase

By G.G. LaBELLE

Associated Press Weiter

It looks like gasoline prices may take another jump, but General Motors, at least, has announced it will be introducing a smaller car that could get as much as 40 miles per gallon.

The jump in gas prices, up to 11/4 cents a gallon, would come if President Ford hikes the oil import tariff by another $1 a barrel. He indicated Friday he will do so, noting the move would spur action in Congress on an energy bill.

General Motors said it would introduce its minicar in the coming model year to compete with small foreign autos that have gained an increasing share of the U.S. car market. At the same time, American auto companies reported their sales slump continuing in midMay.

There were also these economic developments:

-A presidential emergency board recommended railway clerks accept an industry wage pattern, meaning that under the National Railway Labor Act, they cannot carry out a strike threat until June 23.

The clerks, members of the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, now earn an average $5.66 an hour. The pattern settlement provides a 41 per cent wage and benefit hike over three years.

Viet brothel in Texas?

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) Vietnamese prostitutes recruited by a former Saigon brothel operator are working military bases here, the San Antonio News says.

The madam, described only as an attractive 39-year-old Vietnamese who fled when Saigon fell to the Communists, was brought to San Antonio by a "high ranking U.S. Army officer," the newspaper said Friday.

San Antonio is the site of four Air Force bases and Fort Sam Houston, headquarters of the 5th Army. The Defense Language Institute, which trains many foreign students, also is located here.

Most customers of the brothel in a residence near Kelly Air Force Base have been foreign military personnel and U.S. soldiers who served in Vietnam, the newspaper said.

The News said it learned of the brothel from a military officer of a Middle East nation who is undergoing training here. He reportedly said his men were "going wild" over şeveral Vietnamese girls working the military

San Antonio's military officials apparently cannot place the brothel offlimits until a complaint is filed. "Nobody has complained yet about this reported Vietnamese brothel," one spokesman said.

-On Wall Street, the Dow Jones industrial average closed up 12.99 at 831.90. The market rise was tied partly to First National City Bank's cut of onequarter per cent in its prime rate to 7 per cent. Citibank is often a pacesetter in the prime rate, the interest charged the biggest business

Ford had said in January he would impose a $3 a barrel hike in the tariff on imported oil to force up prices and cut consumption. He ordered the first $1 hike but then twice delayed the second $1 as a compromise while Congress worked on an energy program.

But Friday he said he will decide within 48 hours whether to add the second $1 to the tariff. He said such a move might spur Congress, which won't return to the energy bill until its recess ends June 2.

His comment came a day after a White House spokesman said Ford's "inclination now is that, since he introduced his energy legislation on Jan. 21 and it is now May 22 and Congress has taken no action, he is determined that we need to begin a program to end our reliance on foreign sources of oil." It's estimated the $1 hike could add 1 to 11/4-cents per gallon to gasoline prices. GM, in announcing the first U.S.-built minicar, did not say how much the auto would cost, nor what it will be called. It's been reported the car may get about 40 miles per gallon on the highway, but GM gave no data.

U.S. continues pullout in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)-Laotian workers today struck an American company which provided embassy security and demonstrators crowded outside the U.S. Embassy where officials were burning non-essential documents.

Meanwhile, the United States continued the evacuation of Americans from Vientiane to Bangkok today. A spokesman said there would be two or three daily flights with about 80 evacuees on each plane. Employees of the Trans-Air Protection Service walked off their jobs this morning and occupied the company compound demanding severance pay. The firm, employing three Americans and 900 Lao, provided security guards for the American, British, Australian and Japanese embassies and Royal Air Lao.

Payroll probe in jury's hands

COLUMBUS. Ohio (AP) - The Franklin County Grand Jury wound up Friday a three-month-old investigation of alleged state payroll irregularities following the November election.

"The grand jury has concluded its work on the payroll matter," said County Prosecutor George C. Smith. "The results will be made public Tuesday." Smith said it would be "improper" for him to comment further, but the panel apparently voted Friday on whether to hand down any indictments in the controversial case. Smith has said that indictments were possibility.

The prosecutor disclosed last week that he has offered to allow as many as 10 former state employes to plead guilty to misdemeanor charges and make restitution for salaries paid on no-show state jobs.

The grand jury and the Ohio Highway Patrol launched the investigation in late February after Rhodes administration officials claimed that a number of persons listed on the state payroll had never shown up for work in their assigned departments.

Joseph J. Sommer, administrative services director under former Gov. John J. Gilligan, said he was directed to find state jobs after the election for about 70 people, mostly Democratic campaign workers. Sommer said about but John E. Hansan, Gilligan's former chief of staff, refused to appear voluntarily and was not subpoenaed. Sommer said Hansan had told him to get jobs for the party loyalists.

The grand jury also heard testimony from Gilligan's campaign director Eugene P. O'Grady, deputy campaign director William Bannon, and former tax commissioner Robert J. Kosydar as well as 25 other witnesses.

The jurors met with Smith and Asst. Prosecutor Michael Miller Friday to go over the case and presumably make their decision.

New Lebanese chief seeks truce

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Armed men from a dozen factions swarmed in the streets and set up roadblocks today as scattered gunfire and explosions greeted Lebanon's new military government.

Noureddin Rifai, 76, a retired brigadier general and chief of security, was appointed prime minister Friday night by President Suleiman Franjieh in hopes of controling the warfare between rightists and Palestinian guerrillas.

A Moslem former premier, Saeb Salam, said: "We do not recognize this government at all. It is illegal.'

But Yasir Arafat, chief of the Palestine Liberation Organization and guerrilla overlord, ordered all guerrillas to cease fire and stay out of Lebanese politics, according to a Palestinian source.

"It concerns the Lebanese only, and we have nothing to do with it. We will deal with the new reality according to the policies and attitudes toward us," Arafat was quoted as telling guerrilla leaders in Beirut.

Rifai pledged his eight-man govern-ment would begin efforts today to restore order.

Judge to decide on beef grading

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A cattleraising federal judge has the job of deciding for the rest of the country on the tenderness and juiciness of the beef that goes on America's dinner tables. At issue are new beef grading guidelines proposed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

Most of the distaste for the proposed revisions centers on the lowering of the "fat marbling" required for cattle to be graded "choice" or "prime." Experts say the tiny flecks of fat in red meat are the best indicator of how juicy, tender and tasty a piece of meat will be.

Many consumer groups claim the revisions will result in higher prices for lower quality meat by allowing some cattle now grading "good" to move up to the "choice" grade, and cattle now grading "choice" to move up into the "prime" category.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert V. Denney of Omaha, who has raised some cattle of his own, issued a preliminary injunction early last month halting the scheduled April 14 implementation of the revisions.

He was upheld by the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals, but the appellate court set a 45-day limit on the injunction and the USDA from implementing the new standards. Testimony in the hearings was completed Friday.

The suit was filed by the Independent which claims the new standards will raise grading, transportation and production costs. Ten other groups, six of them consumer-oriented, have joined with the association in opposing

Environment and Midwest oil

Support for the environmental philosophy which pervades the federal strip mining bill can be derived from reports that there are enormous oil and gas shale deposits in the Midwest and East. This lends new emphasis to the belief that in future exploitation of natural resources the United States must take far greater care than in the past not to despoil the environment.

The connection is not as farfetched as it may appear at first glance. the public now realizes that precautions must be taken lest strip mining of Western coal deposits leave the countryside ravaged; that is the primary concern of the bill just enacted by Congress. It seems even more evident that precautions of this kind will be necessary when shale deposits are exploited in more populous sections of the country.

The size of those deposits, if testimony before a House government operations subcommittee is to be credited, is astonishing. The subcommittee was told that they are 23 times the size of reserves previously discovered in Western States. The oil shale, according to testimony by Dow Chemical's research manager, contains more than 60 times the country's present known crude oil reserves of 40 billion barrels. Another witness offered an estimate of 285 trillion cubic feet of gas shale beneath Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and West Virginia. Such figures are mightily impressive in themselves, adding an important element to the energy equation. But while thinking about the implications of these huge reserves for the future, we should spare some thought for the matter of assuring that the countryside above the deposits will be preserved.

Shortened school week successful

By TOM FENTON Associated Press Writer

CIMARRON, N.M. (AP) - A fourday school week here has eliminated Monday morning blues for students and teachers, and almost everyone likes it enough to want it continued.

'The kids like it. You bet they do," said Jack Martin, principal of Cimarron High School in northeast New Mexico. "But we sent out questionnaires to students, teachers and parents to find out exactly how everybody feels about it.'

Cimarron School District Supt. Joe Pompeo Jr. said teachers, counselors and principals in the district were unaminously in favor of retaining the four-day week. Of 380 students surveyed, Pompeo said only 14 were against it.

Parents have until Friday to express their preference for next year. If parents approve the four-day week and Pompeo said he believed most will the next step is to get approval from the state Department of Education. "I don't really see any serious problems," he said. The 435-student district went to the four-day week on a temporary basis in January 1974 because of fuel shortages and costs. "It was either that or close the schools in the winter months," Pompeo said. Reaction was so favorable, the district adopted the four-day week for the current school year.

Students on the four-day system put in about the same number of hours at school each semester by staying 55 minutes longer each day Tuesday through Friday. They don't go to school Mondays.

District and state Department of Education officials said the four-day week has drawn inquiries from school districts in other states and from Canada. Pompeo says he recommends that other districts try the abbreviated school week.

'My response is based on teachers and children," he said. "When you have the kind of margin in favor of it that we have, it's not based just on students wanting to get out of school."

Plans being completed for summer spotlight

By JOHN P. GRUBER

County Extension Agent, Agriculture Final plans are underway for the National Chester White Summer Spotlight to be held in Washington C.H., July 7, 8, and 9.

Alumbaugh, executive secretary of the Chester White Swine Record Association, was in Fayette County last weekend working out some of the details for the event.

Lyle says that Chester White breeders are expecting one of the best Spotlights ever to be held here. Breeders from over 18 states are expected with more than 300 head of Chester boars and open gilts. A new feature of the show will be a class for boars tested at central test stations.

Three local Chester White breeders will be highly involved in the planning for the summer event. Ron Warner, Alan Wilt, and Paul Shephard have met with Lyle on recent trips to Washington C.H. All three have been appointed to a number of committees. Other local people involved in committees for the Spotlight include Art Bumpus, Charlie Andrews, Bill Diley, Jack Sommers, Dave Gerber and John Gruber.

We'll keep you informed of the details of the national event as plans progress.

Milk production expected to rise

Down On The Farm

Saturday, May 24, 1975

Washington C. H. (O.) Record-Herald - Page 4

WASHINGTON (AP) - Dairy experts in the Agriculture Department predict 1975 milk production will rise to about 116.4 billion pounds, up about one billion pounds from last year. "Under the most favorable conditions," they said, could go even higher.

"If large feed grain and soybean crops materialize this year and feed prices moderate, feeding rates would pick up, bringing more normal gains in output per cow," the department's Outlook and Situation Board said

But if "another disastrous crop like last year's" occurs, feed prices would continue high and forestall a milk production increase in the last half of 1975, the board said. Milk production slipped from 119.9 billion pounds in 1972 to about 115.4 billion in each of the past two years. High feed costs and other expenses were mostly to blame for the cutbacks. Further, when cattle prices were high in 1973 and early 1974, many dairy farmers culled their herds severely. The board, in a summary of a dairy situation report to be issued next week, said that herd culling lately has dropped off because of depressed prices for slaughter cows.

Manure continues as best fertilizer

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)-Fancy fertlizers created in labortories don't measure up to that provided by horses or cows, Dayton dealers in garden supplies agree.

"Manure helps break up the soil," said Carl M. Loose, operator of a nursery. "It has bulk, whereas chemical fertlizers don't.

Ohio gardeners who want good humus in their garden buy manure to put around their plants rather than 'test-tube" stuff, he said.

Most of the cow manure sold in the Dayton area, however, doesn't come from Ohio cows or horses. It is trucked in from Omaha, Neb.

What's the matter with Ohio's animal manure.

It's a processing problem, said Harry F. Buechly of the GS Supply Co.

"It has to be heat treated, weed free and steamed," said Buechly. "There really aren't any plants like that around here.'

In the big cattle centers, he said cattlemen would be faced with a major problem if they couldn't get rid of the So it's processed and sold nationwide.

In Dayton, the price of 100 per cent manure is about $4.59 for 50 pounds. Buechly said some compost-manure combinations are sold cheaper.

A Trotwood cattle company,
Schearbrook Land and Livestock Inc.,

has plenty manure but it isn't selling it. 'We use it ourselves," said Charles F. Hara, manager of the firm. It is used as fertlizer on Schearbrook's farm, and Hara said he could use some more of it. Robert J. Owen, superintendent of the Wolf Creek Garden Center, said manure does have some drawbacks. "It stinks when it's dry and it stinks worse when it's wet," he said. "The odor doesn't last too long. Just a day or Other animals make fertilizer too, said Owen.

PRESERVING FOOD AT HOME If you are considering canning food at home, do it the right way and avoid

Last year, an estimated 33 million people had home gardens in an effort to beat food prices. More are expected to garden this year and millions will can some of the produce.

According to Evelyn Gray, Extension nutritionist at The Ohio State University, home canning requires careful attention to proper canning methods. She points out that new canning methods and processing times are being used because they are safer and give better results. processing foods longer or under pressure reduces the danger of food poisoning, Miss Gray says. The new methods produce better results because of less spoilage from poor sealing when air and gases are removed from the jars by "exhausting" and when all products, including fruits and pickles, are processed after jars are filled.

The nutritionist notes safeguards on canned foods for your own family should equal those of foods canned for sale. Therefore, it is important to update yourself on new processing times, which have increased on some fruits and vegetables over those recommended a few years ago. New processing times are listed in Ohio Cooperative Extension Service Bulletin 553, "Canning Fruits and chance of spoilage. Vegetables," available from our office at 319 South Fayette Street. LEARN PROPER METHODS

JUNE 19 These new recommendations for canning tomatoes and low-acid vegetables will be demonstrated for the public, June 19 at the Extension Office Auditorium, 319 South Fayette Street. Two times have been scheduled so that all interested persons may attend. The afternoon session will be held from 1:00 to 9:30 p.m. The following are a few of the questions that will be demon- FOR CANNING?

To exhaust, fill jars with blanched, hot vegetable or fruit and liquid to onehalf to three-quarter of an inch of jar tops. Place filled jars, uncovered on a rack in enough hot water so that water rises to one and one-half inches of jar tops. Bring to a boil and continue heating until your cooking or candy thermometer, held in center of jar, shows 180 degrees F (82 degrees C). If you do not have a thermometer. estimate partly heated pints at seven minutes and quarts at least ten minutes. For safety, use a non-slip jar lifter to remove hot jars from exhausting container, for closing and then placing in the canner for processing

IS THERE ANOTHER METHOD

OF FILLING JARS? You may pre-heat (bring to boiling and hold hot) fruits or vegetables, loosely fill heated jars, add liquid, and seal. This method is not as effective in removing air pockets and keeping the food from becoming softened in handling, but is an alternative for those afraid of handling the hot jars in the exhausting fill method.

WHY ARE VEGETABLES BLAN-

BEFORE FILLING JARS?

Blanching softens the product for easier filling of jars. It also removes gases, odors, soil and organisms, resulting in a better seal and less

To blannch, suspend the product over live steam in a covered kettle, or precook in boiling water. Timing for blanching is not as vital for canning as for freezing, as the food is subsequently fully cooked. Since blanch water should be discarded, there is less loss of nutrients when steam can be used. After blanching for canning, do not cool the product but pack immediately in hot jars and cover with hot brine or syrup.

CAN I USE A "STEAM COOKER"

Times given for fruits and tomato processing are 212 degrees F - the temperature of boiling water. If a steam cooker is used for canning, the steam temperature is higher (220 degrees), varies, and does not penetrate like water.

For low-acid canning, steam must be under regulated pressure, thus the canner must have a gauge that is easily read.

The boiling water bath and steam pressure methods are the only ones recommended for home canning.

X-ray machine said big advance

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—An X-ray machine, made by Ohio-Nuclear, Inc., that shows the cross section of body organs instead of the conventional flat view promises to make diagnosis of body diseases easier.

The machine also should make Ohio-Nuclear richer, said Richard S. Grimm, president of Technicare Corp., which bought the company in 1970. Since then Ohio-Nuclear has become a leader in nuclear diagnostics.

The machine, named DeltaScan, moves in a semicircle about the organ or part of the body it is scanning. "The unit then shoots a rifle-like shot (of radiation) at the organ and this is recorded by a computer," Grimm said. "We can also see tissue density as if it were sliced, not like a flat X-ray pic-

Ohio-Nuclear has seen new orders jump from $2.7 million in 1971 to an estimated $25 million in 1975. In 1970 it had 10 employes and it expects to have 500 by the summer at its new location in Solon, Ohio.

Sales for the Cleveland-based Technicare also have soared largely due to Ohio-Nuclear, Grimm said.

Naval fleet reaches low

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) - The U.S. naval fleet will be reduced in August to its lowest level since 1940, U.S. Navy Secretary J. William Meddendorf II said Friday.

Meddendorf said that by August the fleet will be down to 481 major combat ships. But he added that most American ships were more advanced than their Russian equivalents. The secretary speaks here at an Armed Forces Day observance. He said America should have a fleet of 600 ships by the mid-1980's. Six years ago the fleet consisted of 1,000 ships, about the current size of the Russian navy, he said.

Meddendorf also defended the reeing of the merchant ship Mayaguez which was captured by Cambodia. He said "seizure of thr ship was a clear act of piracy" and that "others would test us if Cambodia had been able to get

Eastside students hear lecture on drug abuse

Fayette County Sheriff's Sgt. William R. Crooks addressed some 35 students at Eastside Elementary School Thursday afternoon concerning the dangers of drug abuse.

The students were members of the first, third, fourth and fifth grade Bluebird groups at the elementary

Crooks discussed the wide variety of drugs which are available by both legal and illegal channels. The most important point made by the deputy was telling the children not to take any drugs which were not administered by their parents or a physician.

It was noted that abuse of drugs can be very harmful. This is true whether the abuse comes from taking drugs which are not prescribed, or by the overuse of prescribed medication.

The sheriff's sergeant suggested to

All ready for the Indy 500; Foyt remains favorite

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The winner of Sunday's Indianapolis 500 may be whoever comes out on top in the fierce rivalry between A.J. Foyt and master mechanic George Bignotti, the two men who have been the most dominant forces in this classic event the past 15

Bignotti, whose brilliant red Wildcats driven by 1973 winner Gordon Johncock and Wally Dallenbach are the swiftest of Foyt's rivals, has brought drivers to victory lane here six times, more than any other chief mechanic in the 58-year history of the race now worth more than $1 million in prizes.

California's Nolan Ryan wasn't locating his pitching spots-so the Boston Red Sox located the fences.

In other American League games Friday night, the Minnesota Twins edged the Milwaukee Brewers 2-1, the New York Yankees topped the Texas Rangers 11-7, the Oakland A's blanked the Cleveland Indians 3-0. the Kansas City Royals routed the Baltimore Orioles 10-1 and the Chicago White Sox beat the Detroit Tigers 6-1.

Catfish Hunter ran his record to 6-4 for New York but he needed ninthinning relief help from Sparky Lyle after going into the inning with an 11-2 lead. Graig Nettles hit basesempty and two-run homers, Ed Herrmann cracked a two-run double and Chris Chambliss produced three runs with a single and sacrifice fly for the Yankees. New York's Bobby Bonds hit a solo homer, and Jim Spencer hit a two-run

John Mahaffey leads in Memphis Golf

MEMPHIS (AP) — John Mahaffey studied the scoreboard, his baby face wrinkled into a frown. He looked at the list of the leaders: Gene Littler, Jack Nicklaus and Tom Weiskopf. Also Garv Player and Lee Trevino, who were well within striking distance.

'With guys like that up there, I'd like to get a 14 or 15-shot lead," he said, a

Night games have fortieth anniversary

CINCINNATI (AP)-The advent of night baseball, which celebrates its 40th anniversary tonight, "was the first of very many advantages for the pitcher," says Richie Ashburn, two-time batting champion of the 1950s.

The rulesmakers have long coddled pitchers, says Ashburn and the subject still rankles the feisty blond who terrorized National League hurlers with his crackling line drives.

"I don't know what else they could possibly give 'em," said Ashburn, 48, who has worked the past 13 years as a sportscaster with the Philadelphia

Ashburn will watch former Cincinnati Reds outfielder Ival Goodman throw the first pitch tonight when the Phils and Reds, who opposed each other 40 years ago, meet to commemorate the date. It was May 24, 1935 when baseball gambled with the novel idea of illuminating the playing field with floodlights in hopes of boosting sagging attendance.

Cincinnati's franchise was foundering when general manager Larry MacPhail conceived the idea.

Reds attendance, which had plunged to an alarming 206,773 the year before, soared during the trial testing. Baseball executives begrudgingly approved more night games for 1936. The Reds doubled their attendance, drawing 448,247 to salvage a shakey franchise.

But he's happy, very happy indeed, with the two-stroke margin he established in Friday's second round of the $175,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Golf Classic.

The quiet, 44-year-old Littler moved into second alone when one of Nicklaus' eight off-line drives set up a bogey on

"That's the worst I've driven in two months," said Nicklaus, who has won three of his last four starts. "I missed eight fairways. I haven't been missing that many in a tournament."

Littler, winner of the Bing Crosby early this year, had a 68 and a 135 total. Nicklaus had to settle for a 70 and a tie with Weiskopf at 136. Weiskopf, one of the game's longest hitters, shot a 71 and did not birdie a par-five hole, although he reached one of them in two.

Larry Hinson was next at 71-137. Andy North, who shared the first-round lead with Weiskopf and Mahaffey, went to 74-139. Also at that figure was Player, the South African who won this title last year. He had a second round

Zrevino, who junked a new set of irons and went back to the old sticks that helped make him a part of American folklore, rallied with a 67matching the best round of the hot, humid day-and was at 141.

Foyt won't say just how much satisfaction he would get from beating Bignotti to victory lane this year, but it is known that A.J. is steaming still about charges made last month by Bignotti, accusing Foyt of cheating in his March victory at the California 500. Bignotti said Foyt carried extra fuel in

Warriors whip Baltimore

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The Golden State Warriors' newly won believers include the humbled Washington Bullets.

'They've been the better team these three games, I'm willing to say that," Bullets guard Kevin Porter conceded after a 109-101 defeat Friday night in San Francisco's Cow Palace.

Coach Al Attles' Warriors, decided underdogs heading into the National Basketball Association championship series, are ahead 3-0 and could end the best-of-seven series with a coup de grace, fourth victory Sunday on the Bullets' Landover, Md., home court.

'We've got quality in numbers," said Attles, who used all of his squad, from superstar Rick Barry to 12th man Steve Bracey, in the relatively easy third mistakes.'

game victory.

Golden State was behind by 16 points before getting hot in game No. 1 at Landover, and they trailed by 13 at one point in the second game, which they won here 92-91 Tuesday night.

The Warriors built an eightpoint lead Friday night in the opening quarter, in which Barry scored half his game-total 38 points, fell behind by two points twice midway in the game but were in command with a 12-point edge early in the fourth period.

'We made it tough for ourselves," said Barry. "We missed a lot of passes and shots in the first half. We could have been ahead by about 15 points. In the second half, we just made fewer

Rettenmund, Perez spark Cincinnati to win over Phils

CINCINNATI (AP) - Tony Perez Anderson thinks his hit-starved odyssey is over.

"Tony's slump got him pressing. Sometime you have to get to the bottom before you can get back," said Cincinnati Reds Manager Sparky Anderson

"I hit the bottom hard enough to bounce back," said Perez, whose tworun homer Friday night produced his sixth RBI in the last six games and a tie for league leadership with 31.

The Reds, behind another strong pitching performance from Gary Nolan, downed the Philadelphia Phils 5-2 for their fourth victory in the last five games.

"I'm still not consistent," said Nolan. "but it's just a matter of time. I'm still the same pitcher. I haven't changed a thing," he said.

He evened his record at 3-3, winning consecutive starts for the first time since July of 1972. He was 12-3 at the All-Star break that year, then finished 3-5 the second half when shoulder miseries shut him out of baseball nearly three years.

Surgery seems to have cured his problems and possibly the Reds too. Cincinnati's pitching staff has come under fire in recent years for lack of depth. A healthy Nolan undeniably fortifies a team which won more games than any club in baseball. Perez' seventh homer of the year tied him with Johnny Bench for club leadership and staked Nolan to a 2-0 first inning lead.

in the past three years—98 per season—

Slump-ridden Merv Rettenmund, who had only five hits in 31 previous atbats, drove in two runs with a fourth inning single for his second and third RBI of the year.

"That's the way I like it—quick," said Anderson, pleased the Reds provided Nolan with early runs.

Rettenmund normally wouldn't have been in Anderson's plans. He was scheduled to start against lefty Tom Underwood, but when Underwood was forced out of his scheduled start by tonsilitis, Rettenmund figured he would be replaced by a lefthand hitter. Anderson mulled over his next move and decided to play a hunch. "I just had a feeling," said Anderson.

"I made out the lineup card and decided to stay with it. Nolan spaced seven hits in six and two thirds innings, before tiring. Clay Carroll came on with two runners on and a run in, and got out of the jam by getting Dave Cash to ground into a double play.

The Phils, who suffered their fourth straight loss, left 10 runners stranded to Cincinnati's five.

Soviets want to keep detente appearance

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent

A muted note of alarm about the future of Leonid Brezhnev's detente policy is surfacing these days among the Russians, who sound almost as if they are fearful of being caught with a hand in the cookie jar.

"Who - Us?" Moscow seems to ask indignantly at the very thought that it had anything to do with American policy failures.

There are palpable reasons for this. Apparently from Moscow's viewpoint this is no time to rock a promisinglooking detente boat. What Brezhnev calls his policy of peaceful coexistence has scored points but it has a long distance to travel to prove itself con-clusively to all his high-ranking colleagues.

The general secretary still wants a super-summit to wind up the European security conference. He still wants his two-man summit with President Ford in the fall to have a look of value and he wants another big international Communist meeting.

These objectives, each promising specific rewards, depend on a look of continuing relaxation of tension. Yet what has happened in Indochina, what could happen in Portugal, what has not happened in the Middle East, altogether could lower American opinion of the value of doing business with Moscow.

This alarms Moscow and provokes outcries of abused innocence whenever a suggestion is raised that the Russians have anything to do with revolutionary violence and limited wars.

A political commentator of the Novosti press agency in Moscow wrote an indignant letter to The New York Times recently deploring speculation that Indochina and the like might have adverse impact on the detente. The idea of Moscow involvement was just a myth, he expostulated, and "the approach plays into the hands of the enemies of detente."

But to the Communist world the tone is markedly different. Only a few days ago, exulting over Vietnam, Pravda said the outcome there would be "impossible to imagine" without the assistance of the Soviet camp to the Vietnamese Communists. The cause, Pravda said, "triumphed because from the very outset it was supported by the material force and moral-political prestige" of the Soviet Union. It suggested, too, that Indochina demonstrated the worth of the peaceful coexistence policy, an interpretation that might raise some American

Secretary of State Kissinger has warned Moscow against trying to exploit American failures in Indochina and has also reflected agitation about the international Communist hand in Portugal, that shaky western anchor of the Atlantic Alliance.

The Soviet Union also has played its role in producing the woes of the West and the continuing oil threat to its economies inherent in a war situation. The extent to which Moscow is

As Kissinger and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko met in Vienna this week to discuss current prospects for SALT, the strategic arms limitation talks, both seemed to want to produce something better than deadlock so as to have a document for their chiefs to sign at the Ford-

"I can't deny the old saying about us that we bend with the wind," said Minister Chatichai Foreign Choonhaven, a supporter of U.S. Indochina policy. "You and I know which wind is blowing stronger now."

Brezhnev's chance in this, too. Brezhnev probably is eager to demonstrate the durability of the detente to the extent of paying off in terms of promised economic and political benefits. He probably regards 1976 as his big year, possibly even his

The 25th Congress of the Soviet Communist party will be in February and Brezhnev likely sees it as a climactic event in his career insuring his permanent place in the books as a Soviet statesman. He needs the detente to work.

Rustin upholds seniority rights

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It is right that blacks and women without job seniority are the first fired in today's slumping economy, black leader Bayard Rustin says.

"I've never yet met a black man with high seniority who would agree to let a newly hired black woman take his job in case of layoff, even if the woman got the job because of past discrimination against women," Rustin told the National Urban League on Friday.

"We blacks cannot expect whites to respond differently," said Rustin, who is director of the A. Philip Randolph In-
